Managers and staff will encourage children to know their views count and that they have a voice.

Children are given opportunities to develop enquiring minds in an atmosphere where questions are valued.

Children learn to distinguish right from wrong. Staff collaborate with children to create rules and code of conduct.

Managers and staff create an ethos of inclusivity and tolerance where everyone is valued.

All staff promote diverse attitudes and challenge stereotyping, providing resources that challenge gender, cultural and racial stereotyping.

Staff encourage sharing and respecting other opinions.
